

- It is well known that there is a huge gap in the South African motor industry between the independent workshops and the OEM dealerships. We have identified that customers are in the market for motoring piece of mind. We generate this piece of mind by offering our customers:

- Quality
- Trust
- National network
- Affordability

CITIZENS AUTOMOTIVE PTY LTD is looking to place itself firmly in this gap. We have identified the need for a premium quality independent workshop in the independent sector and are looking to fill this role. This will be achieved by ensuring the supply of premium quality parts, across all makes and models of vehicles.

We also assure that we have the necessary skills and tools on hand to ensure quality work is being pushed out of each workshop. This coupled with our use of Veedol range of lubricants supports our commitment to quality workmanship.

Basic vehicle maintenance is a fundamental part of a mechanic's work in modern industrialized countries, while in others they are only consulted when a vehicle is already showing signs of malfunction. Preventive maintenance is also a fundamental part of a mechanic's job, but this is not possible in the case of vehicles that are not regularly maintained by a mechanic. One misunderstood aspect of preventive maintenance is scheduled replacement of various parts, which occurs before failure to avoid far more expensive damage.

With the rapid advancement in technology, the mechanic's job has evolved from purely mechanical, to include electronic technology. Because vehicles today possess complex computer and electronic systems, mechanics need to have a broader base of knowledge than in the past.

Due to the increasingly labyrinthine nature of the technology that is now incorporated into automobiles, most automobile dealerships and independent workshops now provide sophisticated diagnostic computers to each technician, without which they would be unable to diagnose or repair a vehicle.
